SHOOTING AFFAIR.-Mr. J. C. Morrissey, who was shot in the hand last night by Constable Burnett, gives the following account of the affair. He and Dug Murray, Monk Moore, Sam Brown, Captain Philips and Mike Lynch, while coming out of the Evergreen Restaurant, were met by Burnett, who asked Morrissey where Sam Brown was. Morrissey replied. "he's coming on." Burnett then asked Lynch the same question. Lynch said, "I'm Sam Brown. Burnett replied by an insulting remark, and was knocked down by Lynch. Morrissey. TARGET SHOOTING. - It being the custom of St. John's Academy to give the boys a half holiday whenever a former student has attained any special distinction, literary or political, they claimed it this morning upon the election of S. Chapman Neale, Esq., to the House of Delegates. Advantage was taken of the opportunity thus afforded, to shoot for the elegant medal recently presented to the school for that purpose by Maj. Duffey, and about twenty-five cadets from Co. A, under the com-mand of Maj. Richard J. Collins, marched to Jones's Point where guards were stationed to keep the spectators at a safe distance, and each cadet was allowed three shots, at a hundred yards. An employee of the ticket office went to call him about 7 o'clock and found him a lifeless corpse. His coat, vest and hat hung upon the walt, his shoes laid upon the floor, and his body was stretched at full length upon the bed. Clifford, on Water street, near King, last night, by cries for help, proceeding from the second story windows. The particulars of the alarm are as follows: A colored servant boy, employed by Mr. Clifford, had been sent as an escort home to some ladies who had spent the evening there, and upon his return discovered a man concealed under a bedstead in one of the chambers.
